

HOW I KNOW CHEYENNE

2012
GOLD COAST GUNFIGHT
COSTUME CONTEST

Cheyenne Bodie was a big man, a former army scout who went west after the American Civil War and drifted from job to job; here a cowboy, there a lawman, and always a larger-than-life hero. Because each episode involved Cheyenne encountering new characters that required his help, there were no regularly recurring characters in the program, besides Cheyenne himself. Therefore, there are no holds barred in the type of character that you may wish to portray for the contest.

Awards and prizes will still be given for Best Male costume and Best Female costume; however, each contestant must be prepared to tell the judges the one-minute story of “How I know Cheyenne.” Judges will be located in front of the Stat Booth from 8:00-9:30 am. Creativity of both costume and story will determine winners.

In addition, participants interested in vying for the People’s Choice award will be asked to present their costumes and stories to all the shooters at the Saturday Banquet. Ballots will be distributed, marked, and collected at the end of the meal. Winners will be announced on Sunday.
